BUMPER CROP NEAR SECURITY IN STATE AS RAIN FALLS IN NEARLY ALL SECTIONS DURING WEEK-END

All Points on State Weather Bureau Map Report Rain-fall in Some Degree

NO DANGER OF RUST

Crops in Some Sections Are Virtually Assured by Rain-fall, Reports Declare

SEES NO RUST DANGER
(By the Associated Press)
Minot, N. D., July 10.—Slight dangers of a serious epidemic of black rust exist in the spring wheat states of Minnesota and North Dakota, unless weather conditions from now until harvest are unfavorable, according to Donald G. Fletcher, federal plant disease expert, who has ended a crop inspection trip across the two states.

Little damage has been done thus far by rust, Mr. Fletcher said his observations revealed, although he found the infection present in many fields. Average weather conditions in the spring wheat area this year, he said, have been highly favorable in keeping black stem rust in check.

Rains in nearly every section of North Dakota in a 48-hour period ending at 7 o'clock this morning have secured promise of a bumper crop in some sections, have removed immediate danger of much threatened damage from lack of moisture and have assured a good crop of early sown grain in this immediate section.

The weather bureau's report shows that there was rain in nearly every part of North Dakota, the heaviest rainfall being at Bismarck, in the northwestern part of the state, where 1.30 inches was reported in the 48-hour period between 7 a. m. Saturday morning and 7 a. m. today. Rainfall in the southwestern section of the state was reported as follows: Bismarck .30; Dickinson .33; Dunn Center .20; Napoleon .14. Rainfall in the northwestern section reported was: Bottineau .65; Minot .77; Winton .76. There was rain in all sections of eastern North Dakota. Most of the rainfall came Saturday night, little rain being reported Sunday.

Winter rye cutting probably will be started in Western North Dakota this week. One farmer living east of Bismarck expects to begin cutting 600 acres of wheat in two weeks. Wheat is said to be filling out well. A good yield per acre and a good quality of grain is expected.

A Bismarck man reported that 65 grains were found in a head of rye, about twice the average number. Winter rye had filled unusually well and a good yield per acre is certain where the rye is thick enough, he said.

STATE'S GREATEST RECORD
Grand Forks, N. D., July 10.—Nearly half of the nation's total spring wheat crop has been sown in North Dakota this year, according to statistics shown by the United States Bureau of Markets and Crops estimates located in Grand Forks. In actual figures the state has 48.6 per cent of the country's whole acreage, the figures having been taken from the May and June acreage estimates.

Attention has been called to the fact that few states can make a comparison of crop acreages with that of the total acreage of the United States, but it happens that this year North Dakota can make three such comparisons. The acreage estimates for the same months show that there is 30.4 per cent of the winter rye sown in this state and 14.5 per cent of the barley.

The supposition the Republican leader would be arrested is scouted in other quarters, where it is suggested the provisional government prefers he remain at liberty, believing his capture would be rather an embarrassment than otherwise.

GUARD TAKES CHARGE OF CITY

Bloomington, Ill., July 10.—(By the Associated Press)—State troops took charge in Bloomington today to maintain order at the shops of the Chicago & Alton railroad, where 2,000 shop workers are on strike.

Washington, July 10.—The government through appointment of deputy United States marshals will make sure that law and order is preserved, property and life protected, transportation of the mails continued and interstate commerce not interrupted despite the strike of railway shopmen, Attorney General Daugherty announced today after a conference with President Harding.

The attorney generally formally announced that he had within the last few days authorized the appointment of a number of deputy marshals in the middle west where disorders arising from the strike have occurred and he added that "this policy will be continued wherever justified and required."

DISORDERS IN STRIKE GROW

(By the Associated Press)
Hoxie, Ark., July 10.—A mob of striking shopmen today surrounded about 50 men, a number of whom were armed, brought here by the Missouri Pacific to replace strikers and chased them out of town after disarming them. The strike breakers were picked up by a Missouri passenger train en route to Poplar Bluff, Missouri. There was no violence, as the strike-breakers offered no resistance.

STRIKERS CIRCLE SHOP
(By the Associated Press)
Aurora, Ill., July 10.—Although warned by the road that they must return to work this morning or lose their seniority rights, 1,800 Burlington strikers stood out today. Long before the whistle, the striking shopmen formed a great ring about the shops and began a silent circling of the enclosed area. Every street and approach to the shops were cut off by the moving ring. The marchers were not more than 20 feet apart and links in the chain in some instances shortened to five feet. Nobody attempted to pass the cordon.

Neither were any strike breakers run in upon trains, pickets of the night reported.

MEN "SENT" NORTH
(By the Associated Press)
Peoria, Ill., July 10.—About fifty alleged strike-breakers of the Missouri Pacific arrived here today from Hoxie, Arkansas, where a mob ordered them out of town, and immediately were surrounded by striking shopmen. Lodestone in a kind of rock having magnetic properties.

Disorders spread to the east when the homes of two Baltimore and Ohio employees who refused to join the strike, were bombed at New Castle, Pennsylvania, a striker being shot at New Castle.

Two workmen for the Missouri Pacific at Monroe, Louisiana, were fired upon and wounded. A former employee was arrested charged with the shooting. Here and in many other scenes of disturbances in connection with the strike union leaders deplored acts of violence.

In most places where appeals for troops were made the strikers said all possible efforts would be made to preserve order and they denounced the commission.

HARDING ASKS WORK RESUMED, ARBITRATION

Executive's Plan Provides for Continuance of Work Until August 10

SCALE BODY PROPOSED

Six Miners' Representatives and Six Operators Would Negotiate New Scale

TWO MINERS KILLED
Uniontown, Pa., July 10.—Two striking miners were killed and a third fatally wounded late last night by shots fired by two deputy sheriffs on the property of the Atlantic Coal Company at New Geneva, according to word reaching here.

It is reported two deputy sheriffs are crossing the property on which the miners' tent colony is located were fired on and returned the shots. Authorities are investigating.

Washington, July 10.—President Harding submitted to the bituminous and anthracite operators and miners gathered here in conference a proposal that miners return to work at the wage scale in existence when work was suspended on April 1, and continue to work on that scale until August 10. Meanwhile an arbitration plan would be effected in the bituminous coal area in which negotiations could be set up between the United Mine Workers and the operators, the government assuming responsibility for differences which could not be negotiated.

Secretary Davis on behalf of the government, it was learned, read to the joint conference before its adjournment a proposal that a committee of six operators and six miners be appointed to outline districts in the board being appointed to negotiate a new wage scale.

The commission as outlined by the president would consist of three members appointed by the United Mine Workers of America, three appointed by the operators and five representatives of the public named by the president. The operators and miners were understood to have been asked to give their response to the proposal by tonight.

The arbitration commission would be expected to have a working ready by August 10, but it is also to arrange a new scale by that date through which which expired April 1 should be continued from August 10 to March 1, 1923.

PARTIES COULDN'T AGREE

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, July 10.—The conference of bituminous coal operators and officials of the miners union adjourned its sessions today to go directly to President Harding at the White House. Participants said they had been unable to reach an agreement.

Preliminary meetings of officials of the miners union and of the coal mine operators representatives last night and Sunday gave Secretaries Hoover and Davis, the cabinet officers dealing with the coal situation, would result from the conference of the parties to the controversy to allow settlement. President Harding, fully informed as to the exact situation within the secret meetings, consequently proceeded to draft a pronouncement for presentation to them immediately after their convening.

The two cabinet members participated in a conference with the president following his preparation but the text formulated was held entirely confidential and was not imparted to the participants in the meeting before they gathered.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. A. J. Clark of Wing Injured in Bismarck Street

Mrs. A. J. Clark of Wing was taken to a hospital for treatment after she had been injured in an automobile collision Saturday afternoon at Seventh street and Avenue A between a Ford roadster in which she and Mr. Clark were riding and a Studebaker light six in which Mrs. E. A. Hughes, Clarence Larson, an employee of the Hughes Electric company, and two others were riding.

Mrs. Clark suffered three gashes across her forehead, cheek and neck as a result of flying glass from the windshield which was smashed in the collision.

The Clark car struck the right rear fender of the Hughes car. The Hughes car, which Clarence Larson was familiarizing himself with as driver, was traveling west on Avenue A. The Clark car was going south on Seventh street. They met at the intersection, Clark having the right-of-way under the new rule, he said. The rear bumper of the limousine into which the Clark car crashed was loosened by the contact and the right rear fender was bent.

WANTS FARM MADE BUTTER AT N. D. FAIR

State Dairy Commissioner
Flint Asks for a Large
Exhibit

State Dairy Commissioner Robert Flint is anxious to see a large showing of farm made butter at the fair in North Dakota this year. While admitting that the manufacturing interests have encroached on the farm making of butter until not more than a third of the entire product is home made, Mr. Flint still believes that there is a large place for the butter made in the homes and that competition of that butter will go far to help maintain a high standard.

"It will help the farm butter makers," declared Mr. Flint, "to enter the competition and find out what the expert of the trade thinks of their product. It will especially help that maker of butter who sells to a home trade, where they can deliver the product of the farms to the consumer, has a great advantage over the person who must, perforce, sell through second or third parties."

The usual exhibit in this class, according to Mr. Flint is a five pound jar and it should be in the hands of the secretary of the association by the time of the opening of the exhibit. Cash prizes are offered for the best product, but Mr. Flint holds that the greater benefit will be in the knowledge to be gained from the competition and the judging by some one expert in the sales demand of the butter world. The State Agricultural College and Mr. Flint are both cooperating to send to the state fairs this year, a larger product of dairy farm production.

ced the calls for troops. Special details of police were assigned to railroad shop and yard districts in Chicago, Denver, New York and other cities throughout the country.

In New York strikers explained their position in an open letter to commuters on the Erie placing the responsibility upon the United States railroad labor board.

Defiance Urged
Circulars addressed "to the shopmen maintenance of way men, clerks and others affected by the wage reductions," urging defiance of the courts and the armed forces of the United States were reported to have been found on the doorsteps of many railroad workers in New York.

Union leaders said the circular would at once be turned over to federal authorities.

The circulars were said to have been signed J. Davis, executive secretary of the Central Executive Committee of the Communist party of America.

Shots were fired again at Clinton, Illinois, last night when several bullets were sent in the direction of soldiers on guard in the Illinois Central yards.

In Chicago a guard in the Chicago and Alton yards was assaulted and beaten by a crowd of men and piles of railroad ties along the Santa Fe right of way were fired.

E. Q. Fitzgerald, president of the railroad clerks, had a conference arranged today with the railroad labor board over issues upon which hinged a potential strike of clerks.

Any Town Under 10,000 Can Obtain Playspot Fund

By NEA Service

New York, July 10.—So that children of the small towns may have a better chance to play, William E. Harmon, a New York real estate dealer, has set aside a foundation of $700,000.

Any town of less than 10,000 population can avail itself of part of this fund for the purchase of a playground.

Conceived in Lebanon, O., the movement has spread until it is national. In the following article written for NEA Service, Harmon tells why he started it.

By William E. Harmon
President of the Harmon Foundation

I was born in a very respectable, middle class community.

When I was 10 or 12 years old, I was no worse than other boys of my age. We played in alleys. We picked up empty whiskey bottles and sold them to the saloons for two cents apiece. We got the false idea that to be a real man one must be real tough.

It took years of hard discipline to change this view. It has not been changed yet among many boys of today. The condition is particularly bad in the smaller towns.

The way to correct it is by the development of playgrounds.

After many years' connection with social and philanthropic enterprises, I concluded that the gift of land is a gift eternal. So I devised a plan to help small cities and towns acquire land for permanent playgrounds.

First, by conducting campaigns for funds or bonding elections in towns of 15,000 or less within 250 miles of New York.

Second, by contributing 10 per cent of the cost of the land, contributions being limited to $500, in communities of 10,000 or under.

Third, by purchasing the land and leasing it to towns of 5000 or less for a period of five to ten years.

At first it was hard to get the small towns interested.

But our success is spreading. More than 60 communities have made application, and the number is increasing rapidly.

My son and two daughters join my wife and me at fortnightly conferences to decide on the working out of our plans. Thus our children are being educated in social consciousness.

That's something that I missed as a boy. But I hope other boys will get it in wholesome contact in properly supervised playgrounds the country over.

COURTHOUSE IN MERCER COUNTY FIGHT SUBJECT

Case Heard from Judge Nuesse, on Restraining Order to Halt the Work

Judge W. L. Nuesse in district court was to hear this afternoon arguments in a case brought by P. S. Chaffee of Beulah against the commissioners of Mercer county to restrain them from going ahead with repairs on the courthouse at Stanton on the ground that the contract awarded was irregular.

Judge Berry had granted the writ and the return was to be made before Judge Nuesse this afternoon, when Chaffee's attorney asked that the order be made permanent while attorneys for the defendant asked that it be dissolved.

Chaffee, represented by J. M. Hanley of Sullivan, Hanley and Sullivan, Mandan, alleged that the contract was not let to the bidder and that there were other irregularities. In a previous case the commissioners were restrained on the ground that although they purported to repair the courthouse they were virtually building a new one. Mercer county, like many others, has a county seat fight on.

According to reports from Stanton work on the new addition to the courthouse started Saturday with a large crew.

Officers of the Dickinson locals said that 104 men were out and that they were standing 100 per cent with the strike order. At a meeting held after a walkout Saturday—the men agreed to remain away from the shops and off company property during the time of the strike but in case of a wreck will man the wrecker or aid as needed.

The railway company immediately following the strike, placed a number of guards in the yards here as a protective measure. This precaution has been entirely unnecessary as there has been no attempt on the part of the men to interfere in any way with the work in the yards or to cause trouble.

HUNDREDS AT BAHMER RITES

Impressive Tribute Paid His Memory

The Evangelical church was crowded Sunday afternoon when funeral services for Howard Bahmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Bahmer, were held. Seventy-five former service men gathered with members of the A. O. U. W. lodge, the city fire department members and scores of other friends to pay last tribute to the young man whose life was ended by electrocution last week.

Rev. C. F. Strutz, pastor of the church of which the young man was a member, preached the funeral sermon and paid a splendid tribute to the deceased. A quartette composed of William Noggle, John Hughes, V. H. Schneider and Frank Walker sang. Members of the American Legion were pallbearers and a firing squad from Company A, National Guard, escorted the body to Fairview cemetery and paid military honors at the grave. The deceased was wounded in France during the World War.

JUDGE NUESSE TO HOLD COURT AT WASHBURN

Judge W. L. Nuesse will go to Washburn tomorrow to hold a term of court in McLean county. Judge Thomas Pugh of Dickinson will be in Bismarck to hear two criminal cases. In the case of the Simon Bros. William Freeman has been committed to the Mandan training school.

MARKETING LAW OF WISCONSIN TO BE TESTED

(By The Associated Press)
Madison, Wis., July 10.—The Wisconsin marketing law enacted by the 1921 legislature with broad trade commission powers was put to its first legal test today when the Standard Oil Company of Indiana opened an action in Dane county circuit court attacking the validity of the entire statute.

At stake in the court battle commenced before Judge E. Ray Stevens, is the existence of the marketing commission, one of the state's largest administrative departments. The commission was established by the last legislature.

The preliminary hearing today centers on a motion made by A. C. Reis, attorney for the marketing department, asking that the Standard Oil Company show cause why its complaint against the department should not be modified to eliminate the attack on the marketing law.

This move is expected to enter the initial contest on the constitutionality of the statute.

LEGION AFTER NEW MEMBERS

The Lloyd Spetz Post of the American Legion now is engaged in a mid-summer campaign for members. The post has about 300 members, but desires to increase the membership. Service men who are not reached by others may procure membership cards by seeing Walter Sather, commander, or Lewis P. Warren, adjutant.

JUNE BRIDES NOT AS NUMEROUS AS LAST YEAR

Matrimony did not appear as attractive to the residents of Bismarck and the surrounding territory during the first six months of this year as it did last year for the same period of time if one may judge by the number of licenses which were issued at the office of the Burleigh county judge.

Even June, the month of brides, has had a slump of one this year in comparison to last year. The year of 1921 and 1922, however, in which 58 and 50 licenses were issued respectively were considerably ahead of the years of 1918 and 1919. The year of 1920 led the other years with 83 marriage licenses. This may have been due to some extent to the fact marriage was very popular immediately after the return of the boys from the war.

FRAZIER GIVES HIS IDEAS ON LEGISLATION

Former Governor Tells Correspondent What He Would Do in U. S. Senate

What former Governor Frazier would do in the United States Senate has been the subject of much discussion since his nomination. He gives an answer to Charles W. Wheeler, in an interview printed in The Chicago Herald-Examiner.

Mr. Frazier declares he isn't a Bolshevik, that he is a Republican and his father was a Republican and that he doesn't believe in dividing up the property of farmers of the state. He asserts he is not a socialist.

"There isn't a farmer in North Dakota who is for dividing up any other person's property honestly acquired," he asserted. "What the farmers up here want is to keep the property they have and not see it taken away from them by the speculators and gamblers in your big cities. That is what we are fighting for—to keep what we have and not be ruined as a class."

Frazier assailed the Esch-Cummins law, demands protection for farmers, says he is for a soldiers bonus, declares he is for taking care of America before guarding the interests of Europe, and is for the St. Lawrence deep waterway and would support Sen. La Follette's proposal that a bare majority of the supreme court of the United States could not declare unconstitutional a law passed by the Congress.

Mademoiselle J. A. Mistinguet, famed French danseuse recently arrived in America, is known as "the girl with the $1,000,000 legs."

He says eight of the nine judges ought to agree a law is unconstitutional before it is so declared.

DAIRY SURVEY IS MADE BY INSTITUTE

Less than Three Quarters of a Million Producing Dairy Cows Are Pure Bred

MAKING SLOW PROGRESS

Chicago, July 10.—The milk and butter fat at present produced by the 23,000,000 dairy cows of the United States could be produced by 12,000,000 if only pure bred sires were at the head of each herd according to a survey made public today by the National Institute of Progressive Farming.

In Denmark, which has the most highly developed dairy industry in the world, the productivity of cows is double that of the United States, it was stated.

The world's champion milk and butter fat cows are in this country, but less than three-quarters of a million of the 23,000,000 producing dairy cows are pure bred, the institute said. This accounts for the fact that our average production is only one-half that of Denmark and Holland.

An illustration of the profit in the use of pure bred sires comes from Iowa State College, according to the survey. In this instance the first cross breeding of native cows with pure bred Holstein-Friesians showed an increase of 83 per cent in milk and 58 per cent in butter fat. The second generation cows, which were three-quarters pure bred, showed an increase of 180 per cent in milk and 128 per cent in butter fat over the production of the original native cows. If this process were followed in all herds, the survey estimates that production would be about 40 pounds of butter per capita, instead of 17 a year as at present, 8 or 9 pounds of cheese instead of 3.8, and 3 quarts of milk daily instead of one.

The survey expressed the opinion that American farmers are progressing slowly but surely toward this standard, just as they are progressing in other ways, that is in the rotation and diversification of crops, greater use of fertilizer and the employment of tractors and other farm power machinery which saves time to be devoted to the greater care required by higher grades of live stock.

The dairy farmer, the survey shows, is a leader in progressive farming and the prosperity of dairy territory is apparent to the passerby in the large number of automobiles to be seen, good condition of roads, and in thriving, brick-looking villages, and towns.

The survey finds that in communities where dairying is in its infancy pure bred sires are often community-owned.

The Northwest leads in the constructive dairying program. The greatest dairy show in the world is to be held at Minneapolis next October. In North and South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the survey reports that the state governments are actively behind the upbuilding of dairy herds. In the Dakotas there are big educational committees at work and the program has the support of bankers and the business men generally.

Another encouraging aspect of the situation is found by the survey in reports by the pure bred associations. All report good business and it is stated that five shipments of Ayrshires were recently made respectively to Costa Rica, Hawaii, Mexico, China and Japan. A greater number of Jerseys have been registered in the past year than any year in the history of the American Jersey Cattle College, with one exception. Registrations this year so far number 43,000. Breeders are looking forward to a tremendous demand with a return of prosperity to farms in the near future, it was stated.

WIRELESS MAY ENABLE THE DEAF TO HEAR

If Recent Experiments Come Up to Expectation, This Will Be Accomplished

London, July 10.—Wireless, with all the manifold benefits already to its credit may enable the deaf to hear, thinks a writer in the current number of the Medical Press. If recent experiments with wireless telephony come up to expectation, he declares, then there is little need for the deaf to give up hope, for by means of "thermionic" valves the very deaf have been enabled to hear. The author records the case of a man of 60 who had been deaf for many years, so deaf that he could only hear the shouted voice. Nevertheless he experimented with wireless telephony. It occurred to him that by increasing the number of thermionic valves in his receiver he might thereby raise the sound to a degree of intensity to be heard easily. This he did, working up gradually until he had five thermionic valves in his apparatus, with the result that he can now hear his friends in Paris more plainly than he can a person sitting in the room beside him. Also his hearing for the ordinary voice has become more acute.

The Marconi Company's experts are using a valve similar to the thermionic on their "bonophone," an instrument for imparting sounds to the brain by means of the bony parts of the cranium. It has enabled a large number of persons to hear who hitherto were deaf.

"But, at the same time," he added, "we are keeping in view in connection with the scheme now under consideration for the establishment of wireless broadcasting stations, the possibility of teaching languages by wireless telephony. I think this will be a highly important part of the educational network of our broadcasting program. One foresees the engagement of eminent professors of languages for the purpose of wireless tuition."

600 DOG TAX DODGERS ARE GIVEN PARDON

The Pardons, However, Were Conditional on the Payment of the Tax

(By the Associated Press) Chicago, July 10.—Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky has pardoned more than 600 persons indicted on the charge of failure to pay a dog tax. The pardons were conditional on the payment of the tax.

Governor Morrow is a lover of the dog. During his campaign of 1910 "Old King" figured prominently in his speeches. At the last session of the General Assembly he was called upon jokingly for an address on "Old King."

He responded, and before he had finished he had swung a hostile Democratic House of Representatives into line to pass a bill repealing the state law under which dogs are taxed for the benefit of persons whose live stock may be killed by canine rascals.

The Senate, however, refused to vote on the bill to repeal, and the act remained on the statute books. Since then county attorneys have become more active in its enforcement, and have indicted hundreds of persons, charging failure to pay. They reckoned without the governor as a friend of "Old King" and his owner.

Three hundred and ten persons in Russell county were the first to receive the pardon; the 270 were pardoned in Monroe county. The governor said that owing to the publicity given the efforts to repeal the law, many people believed it was no longer in effect; that others are so poor that $1 means food for several days; and that furthermore the law was needless, provided little revenue and meant little. He added, however, that as long as it was a law the fees must be paid, and he admonished the indicted persons to pay and avoid penalties, which run up to $20.

OPTIMISM IS ON INCREASE

P. C. Remington Sees Renewed Confidence on Crop Outlook

"A bumper crop is in prospect," said P. C. Remington, President of The City National Bank today in discussing the business outlook, "and it is the one big thing which can be definitely counted upon to stimulate many lines of business, particularly retail."

"A brisk retail business," continued Mr. Remington, "will of course mean that merchandise stocks, which are now very low, will have to be replenished, with the inevitable result that factories will be spurred up through the increase in demand for manufactured goods."

"Even if prices for live stock and farm products are not materially higher, the cost of production has been less in 1922 and it is anticipated that the farmer's purchasing power will be largely restored, his indebtedness reduced and his general financial condition re-established on a sounder basis."

"Employment conditions are far more favorable and all labor, wanting work, is able to find it. Employers for the first time in two years are not able to quickly find needed help."

"All things considered there seems to be good reason for the prevailing feeling of optimism and the last six months of 1922 should carry the country a long way toward stable business conditions and prosperity."

A BAD MAN? CLEANED BANK CHIMNEYS

William Carter, alias William Burns, up for sentence for forgery at La Crosse, Wis., was questioned in the district court about his past life. His record seemed clean up to the time of the forgery, until he quietly remarked:

"The last job I did was at a bank at Black River Falls, Wis."

The auditors in the court room leaned forward with renewed interest. The judge looked grave.

"What kind of a job?" the judge asked sternly.

"Carter replied meekly, 'I cleaned the bank chimney.'"

DR. WORST WOULD AID IMMIGRATION

Dr. John H. Worst, commissioner of immigration, left yesterday for Fargo and St. Paul. At Fargo he will interview the president of the State Bankers' association and at St. Paul he will hold conferences with officials of the railroad with a view to securing co-operation in the organization of more intensive efforts for state immigration during the present year. Dr. Worst is particularly interested in arranging for personally conducted tours for land seekers.

Outline Proposals for Work of Organization for Coming Year

In a set of resolutions drawn up by the executive board of the North Dakota Federation of Nonpartisan clubs which was in session here July 6 and 7, made public today, put themselves on record for a higher standard of citizenship, approved Governor R. A. Various resolutions read as follows: "Whereas, we believe that justice is better served in conference of peace than in conflict at arms therefore, be it resolved, that we, as club-affiliate with the great national organization for world disarmament."

"Whereas, we realize the absolute necessity of properly supervised playgrounds in all of our schools and particularly the rural schools, for the welfare of our children, be it resolved that we do all in our power to better the conditions in our rural schools, obtain efficient and well-trained teachers, and insist upon the provision of properly supervised playgrounds."

"Whereas, the Sinclair Stabilizing bill, introduced into the last session of Congress by Hon. J. H. Sinclair of the Third Congressional district, will place agriculture, the basic industry in this state, and these United States on a firm foundation by assuring to agriculture a just profit above cost of production, be it hereby resolved that we favor this bill and ask the immediate passage of said bill."

The members of the executive board also went on record as favoring Senator Ladd's monetary bill which "seeks to restore to our government the issuance of all money constitution and which now, which right is vested therein by the Federal Reserve Board."

MARKETING OF POTATOES IS A PROBLEM

To Make His Efforts Profitable Along This Line, the Farmer Must Learn

Fargo, N. D., July 10.—The North Dakotan has to learn how to market potatoes if he is going to make his new efforts along this line profitable, potato men who met at Larimore recently agreed. The North Dakota Potato growers exchange was organized for the marketing and advertising of the potatoes grown in the state.

It was agreed that the North Dakota farmer must put out good potatoes; put out dependable stuff which will be of standard quality; that these potatoes shall be marketed in branded sacks so that when a merchant sees the sack he will know that there is quality inside of it; that this must be advertised.

Potatoes of splendid quality are grown in this state. The 1921 crop almost doubled that of the preceding year and a 35 percent increase on that is expected this year. But farmers must learn, speakers said, to sort out the culls and feed them to live stock and sort out the marketable potatoes so that when a man buys North Dakota potatoes of a certain grade he will know exactly what he is getting. Growers in the state, heretofore, have not gone in particularly strong for potato raising and have simply dumped their product on the market unsorted and sometimes unwashed, speakers said.

DREAMS. MAKE HIM ACROBAT

By NEA Service.

Toledo, Ohio, July 8.—Wayne Shepherd, 12, no longer believes it profitable to mix rosy dreams of a profession as a circus acrobat with too much apple pie.

For Wayne, home from the circus, where the bespangled performers had leaped and twisted on lofty bars, lunched on pie before retiring.

Dreams! Of himself as a circus acrobat, naturally. And, sound asleep, Wayne got up out of bed, removed the screen from his bedroom window and hurled himself in a front somersault out of the second story.

A telephone wire broke his fall and dropped him feet foremost, on the ground, unhurt and still asleep. He started back up the eave-spout and was half way up the side of the house when he was awakened by the shouts of his mother, who had heard the commotion and hurried into his room to learn the cause.

It took a moment for the sleepy Wayne to realize what it was all about. And then he hurried back to bed—by way of the stairs.

"Never again," he says.

TWO SPEAKERS ADDRESS CLUB

Governor Nestos and Alfred Steele of Jamestown Talk to Rotarians

Governor R. A. Nestos and Senator Alfred Steele of Jamestown were the principal speakers before the Rotary club at its luncheon held today. Governor Nestos made a short talk, devoted chiefly to relating humorous incidents of the campaign. Senator Steele reviewed the recent Rotary convention at Los Angeles, which was attended by 7,000 Rotarians. He reviewed especially the address of a New Jersey man on citizenship. The boy which the Rotarians should worry about, he said, is the boy who drives an automobile with a flask in his hip-pocket saying "To Hell with the Constitution."

He told of the question as to why the Rotarians were present at the convention in Los Angeles and the various answers. The general thread of the replies, he said, was that they were there in the interest of a better citizenship in the world. Officers of the Masonic bodies were guests of the club.

MOLE FUR Mole promises to be one of the leading furs for fall. Fur coats for the coming winter show a tendency toward a close armhole which does away with the bulging, almost inevitable with kimono sleeves.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWS-PAPER

(Established 1879)

TELLING THE WORLD

Did you ever stop to think what in or near Bismarck interests the thousands of tourists who pass through the city annually?

Most of them, of course, visit the state capital, if they spend any time in the city. There they show great interest in the historical society's museum, particularly in the Indian collection. The greatest attraction of all, probably, is the Theodore Roosevelt cabin.

The great, fertile prairies excite wonderment in the minds of an easterner and perhaps are viewed in a more practical manner by those from the west. Questions often are asked about the lignite coal beds.

It is the duty of every Bismarck citizen who believes in his city and his community—and if he does not he lacks faith in himself since he and his fellow men make the community—to aid tourists in locating points of interest, to know them and to explain them courteously and fully.

The citizens of Bismarck have a fine opportunity each year to spread information about the opportunities of the state. They should embrace every such opportunity.

A few months ago it was suggested that Bismarck ought to celebrate her fiftieth anniversary at the time of dedication of the bridge. The city of Minot can only celebrate its fortieth anniversary this year, but the people of that city are doing it with vim and spirit.

Engineers of Bismarck have begun a movement to restore an old Indian village near Bismarck. It is a splendid move and the restored village would be a great attraction to visitors as well as awakening our own interest in the early history of the Dakotas.

The Roosevelt cabin was long neglected, but the Theodore Roosevelt of the American Revolution it is being restored and will be preserved.

There are many points of historical as well as practical interest in and near Bismarck. Learn them and tell the world about them. It advertises your city.

ROCKEFELLER'S DIMES

The world's richest man, John D. Rockefeller, goes to a circus.

He laughs at the clowns, feeds peanuts to the elephants, applauds the hair-raising acrobats, and buys the pink lemonade and soda.

All around it is a complete circus day, even to his daughter-in-law having her tinsy taken on the Midway. "It brought back memories of boyhood days," said John D.

And it probably is a safe bet that he had the best time on circus day that he had had in a year, though the diversion was of the inexpensive sort within the means of the man who can count the dollars of his weekly pay envelope on his fingers.

The Rockefeller family, for rich or poor, insatiable things. And our greatest pleasures are inexpensive. Money is desirable, but it is not everything. This may be platitudinous. Most platitudes, however, are true and philosophical.

The mob that followed John D. about the circus was most interested in the dimes he gave to 200 of the fox producers.

Observe his system—only one dime to each person, and always a bright, sparkling-new dime, fresh from the mint.

John D. always carries a pocketful of dimes—and never appears in public without distributing some of them.

He is rich enough to distribute $5 gold pieces. They, however, would be quickly spent. He is shrewd enough to know that nearly every one would save a dime from the world's richest man, as a "lucky piece."

In his unique psychological way, Rockefeller is trying to impress the public with the value of the humble dime. Pennies might be hurled back at him in derision. But none except drunken men ever threw away a dime. Probably John D. is like the rest of us, and would spend dollars of time trying to recover a dime lost through a sidewalk grating.

You see Rockefeller, with his dimes, spreading the wisdom of thrift with all the cunning theatrical instinct of Phineas T. Barnum.

After all, it was thrift that gave him his start back in the day when he was a bookkeeper toiling for $35 a month.

He learned to handle dimes before he was able to handle dollars. So did Henry Ford, when he was a machinist. So did Schwab, when he was a day-worker in the steel mills.

Comfortable financial independence is a matter of plain old-fashioned thrift, though expanding the modest fortune to a gigantic fortune depends on ability and chance.

MISSING LINKS
 Were our ancestor monkeys? This question worries William Jennings Bryan, who is furiously and profitably attacking the whole theory of evolution.

Prof. E. A. Hooton, Harvard

anthropologist, says: "There is no proof that man is descended from that man is descended from the apes. Man and the ape are distant cousins, not father and son by any means. They have a common ancestor."

To some extent, that should pacify Bryan. But he will start up again when he hears that Hooton adds: "Monkeys branched off from the common stem of the human family many years ago. In fact, the estimate of the Gibbon's and the Siamese's origin places him at 1,200,000 years ago."

Bryan believes everything began about 6000 years ago.

What are you most afraid of? May be your supreme dread is poverty. Or it may be a loaded gun. Or a certain disease.

Frequently fear enters unexplainably on some simple thing that has little or nothing in it to excite terror.

Brave Julius Caesar shook and chattered at lightning. He fled to the dark depths of caves when storms gathered.

Alexander the Great was deathly afraid of cats. The sight of a harmless, purring pussy caused him to throw fits.

Fear, of all kinds, is believed by scientists to be due to chemical abnormalities of the adrenal glands, small capsules attached to the kidneys.

The adrenals of some people react peculiarly in certain situations or in the presence of certain objects. The nervous system, emotions and even mental balance are upset by failure of the adrenals to harmonize with the encounter.

Another peculiarity of the adrenal glands is their close connection with violent emotions, such as fits of anger. The person with a bad temper has defective adrenal glands.

Aroused by passion, the adrenals generate chemical substances known as hormones. These are shot into the blood. They make the heart beat rapidly, the hands shake, "a red film" come over the eyes. You have observed these symptoms in people overcome with rage.

Do the adrenal glands cause outbursts of temper? Or does temper upset the workings of the adrenals? Take your choice of the two. No matter which you select, you will find scientists ready to back you up.

This much is certain—that the will-power can be called into play as a brake on the emotions, especially anger.

People who are subject to outbursts of temper should know that giving way to these emotional impulses literally tears their health to pieces. Anger wrecks the nerves, strains the heart, upsets the digestion.

A fit of anger shortens life. A great deal is being written these days about the adrenals and other endocrine glands. It is important that people should not accept glandular theories as an alibi for personal deficiencies such as anger. That is the easy way, for it is human nature to seek an alibi as an excuse for individual defects.

Meet your glands halfway. Keep the body and emotions under the control of will power, as much as possible. Barring geniuses, the glands constantly are trying to be normal. The mind has definite powers in assisting them to perform normally.

CRO-MAGNONS

Hooton, Harvard anthropologist, says: "The Cro-Magnon people, who dominated the world about 15,000 to 30,000 B. C., were perhaps one of the finest races the world has ever seen, deeply religious, artistic and greatly superior in brain capacity to the modern Europeans."

"Their tribal development and labor distribution were quite complex, and their commerce extended from the Baltic to the Mediterranean and from Germany and Austria to England and France."

It will surprise many, that science has traced human history as far back as 14,000 years. The dusty books in libraries are fascinating, whether you agree with them or not.

BANQUET

An old document is dug up in the records of the Chamber of Commerce of New York State. Dated 1783, it is a bill rendered by one John Cape "To a dinner given by His Excellency the Governor and Council to their Excellencies the Ministers of France and General Washington & Co."

The bill was around $750 for the 120-table banquet. Items include 135 bottles of Madeira wine, 36 bottles port, 60 bottles beer, 30 bowls of punch. A charge of about $35 is made for "60 wine glasses and eight cutlery decanters broken."

Maybe this explains why the past is so frequently referred to as "the good old days."

REPAIRS

Are you having any repairs done around your home this spring? Copper and Brass Research Association estimates that home-owners this year will spend over half a billion dollars for replacing sheet metal work, including eaves-troughs and the like.

Brief business items like that remind us that everything in this world is constantly wearing out and has to be replaced. The replacement makes jobs. Hard times can last just so long, then business starts up of its own momentum.

MOVIES

Worst influence of the movies is not the "sex stuff," but the way criminals frequently are held up in master minds, exciting admiration among the imitative young.

All these are bad enough, granted. But the worst of the bad examples broadcasted by the movies is portraying a dissipated rich man's son as a hero. The majority of filmland heroes would be kicked out of the average decent home.

Horatio Alger might have been a plucky and a hero. But he at least insured youth to hard work, courtesy and clean ambitions.

In some natural gas fields, propane is extracted in large quantities

BUSINESS GROWS IN FACE OF TROUBLES

"Continued expansion of the country's activities in the face of the coal strike and other actual and contemplated labor troups gives additional strength to the opinion that industry, business and agriculture are now in a primary forward movement," says the Collins Forecast. The article, printed in The Tribune by courtesy of the Bismarck bank, continues:

"May pig iron production was the largest monthly output since January, 1921. Steel ingot production was the largest in eighteen months. Cotton manufacture showed an increase of more than 10 per cent over the previous month. Automobile production attained a new high record, and so did building construction. Stocks of metals, notably copper, zinc and lead, on hand at the end of the year have been thoroughly liquidated and production has revived with a whole-some recovery of prices. The world-wide easing of money, particularly the Bank of England's cut in discount rate to 3 1/2 per cent, reflects the confidence of strong interests in the European outlook."

"It is believed that present coal stocks and current production will prove sufficient until early fall. The drop in prices was attributed to the July 1 freight cut and government supervision of prices. The crisis in the situation is expected to come about the middle of July and as it is apparent that the strike is becoming more and more of a contest between the operators and the union chiefs, rather than the miners, a settlement is likely to come about easily and unexpectedly. It is realized in influential quarters that the basis for prosperity is not substantial so long as labor costs in railroading, mining and construction work are held near war levels. The readjustments, however, seem to be nearing completion, especially as the productivity of workers has increased enough to assist in bringing labor costs back once again to a reasonable basis. One of the biggest forward steps of the year has been getting transportation costs down."

"An underlying factor of great importance in trade revival has been the exhaustion of stocks and the wearing out of things in use, bringing consumers automatically into the markets on the one hand to purchase their requirements, and on the other hand to sell their own holdings to furnish the money necessary for buying, a reciprocal process that tends to bring all branches of industry into their proper relationship. Buyers generally are showing more willingness to place orders and there is reported considerable purchasing for future needs. It now appears likely that the customary mid-summer lull in industry and business will be diminished activity to the same degree as last year. Practically every recognized indicator of the future points to renewed upward progress in the fall in most lines the country over."

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

COAL AND THE NORTHWEST

One of the most ominous features of the situation is that up to the date of the latest available report the amount of coal which had been carried by the railways to the Lake Erie ports and thence by water to the heads of the lakes to supply the needs of the northwest was only about 8,000,000 tons. At this time last year the amount of coal that had been dumped at the head of the lakes exceeded 8,000,000 tons. If the northwest is to have sufficient fuel to carry it through the winter there must be dumped at the head of the lakes during the season of navigation from 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 tons of coal; and already the shipments at the head of the lakes are 5,000,000 tons below normal.—Railway Age.

WHAT WILL HE SEE?

Rip Van Winkle slept for twenty years in the Catskills, and when he returned to his native village he found things changed. This country had in the meantime become a republic, his wife had died, and even his dog did not recognize him. But this is only a story, not much more credible than the legend on which Washington Irving based his famous narrative.

When Rold Amundsen, noted explorer, started recently on his seven-year journey across the polar regions, however, he laid the foundations of a narrative which has modern realism about it than do the fanciful yarns of most of our storm-tossed war-torn and many-year sleepers. This explorer, if he has luck, really is going to be out of touch with the world's doing for seven years, and what he will find when he comes back invites speculation. The world moves faster than it did in Rip Van Winkle's day.

Had our Arctic explorer left in 1914 in July and returned in 1921, he would have found it almost impossible to give credence to an account of the great war. The political changes which took place in Europe during those years would have sounded to him very much like a fairy tale.

What will greet this traveler when he returns in 1929? What new wonders of the earth and in the air shall we have to explain to him? By that time the airplane may be a sufficiently common sight so that we pay no more attention to it than we do now to a passing automobile. By that time the radiophone may have been perfected and put to uses the boldest man could not forecast, or shall we say broadcast, today.

Even in the political field it is not safe to predict that when Rold Amundsen returns from his seven years' winter-camping he will see no such violent changes as the seven years just passed witnessed in the affairs of the world.—Detroit News.

LET'S CLEAN HOUSE

There are thousands of independent Republican and Democratic voters alike who will agree that, before another campaign opens that there must be a general housecleaning of officials in the ranks of the Independent Voters' association. If that organization is to accomplish its full purpose in electing men to office who will clean up the government, it must first clean up its own house.

The Independent Voters' Association was organized with a well-defined purpose in many ways. It accomplished its objective. But now that it is in a position to do the greatest service to this country, it is the leaders are taking advantage of the power that has been placed in their hands to further their own ends and therein lies the danger.

When any one man or group of men can place himself or themselves at the head of an organization and dictate its practices and policies without regard for the opinions of those who are members of that organization then it is time that they are removed, not only for the good of the organization but for the good of the state.

This is the stage reached by the Independent Voters' association because of the duplicity of some of its officials. Unless they are removed and consigned to the oblivion which they so justly deserve the machine will become as much of a menace to the state as the Nonpartisan league under the domination of Lemke-Townley, et al.

The Press has always been registered on the independent side of the political scoreboard. It will always be found there. It will support the independent candidates and platform as long as these work to the best interests of the state. We will fight for them with every ounce of energy and power at our command. But, right here and now we declare that the time is ripe for a housecleaning within the ranks and that the sooner that members of the Independent Voters' association get rid of those men who do nothing but sit in an office down in Fargo and try to dictate to the independent voters of the state for the sole purpose of furthering their own ambitions, the better it will be for North Dakota citizens generally and the independent cause in particular.—Dickinson Press.

A THOUGHT

If we hope for that we see not, then we with patience wait for it. Romans 8:25.

Patience had no sooner placed her self by the mount of sorrows, but the whole heap sunk to such a degree that it did not appear one third so big as it was before.—Joseph Addison.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

"Ow, Oh, Ouch?" Marty Mink was yelling when Dr. Snuffles and the Twins knocked on his front door. "Doctor? S-s-come on in."

The three of them walked into Marty's muddy hallway. Marty, you know, lives on the bank of Ripple Creek, or rather in it.

Before Nank had time to close the door, Phil Frog put his toe in the crack. "Hey!" he cried. "You don't mind if I come, too, do you?"

"What do you want to come for, Philip?" asked Nick. "Of course, you're safe as long as Marty has a fish-bone in his throat because he can't eat anything."

"But he hasn't had a meal for hours and hours, and the minute Dr. Snuffles pulls out the fish-bone Marty will begin to look for something to eat. And he likes frogs better than anything."

Phil grinned. "Yes, that's so," he agreed. "But I'm curious. I'd like to see how you pull out fish-bones."

"Well, come along then," said Nick. "Q-u, oh, ouch," moaned Marty. Dr. Snuffles took out his pullers and was just going to pull out the bone when Phil gave a quick jump with his strong hind legs and knocked the pullers out of the fairman's hand, grabbed them in his mouth and made a big dive into Ripple Creek.

"I'm not going to run any risk of Mr. Mink choking on a frog bone, anyway," grinned Phil. (To P. Continued.) (Copyright, 1922, NEA Service.)

MARIAN HALE FORECASTS STYLES FALL AND WINTER WILL BRING

BY MARIAN HALE

Begin now to get ready for your fall and winter personality.

Since gowns no longer fit the body, they simply must fit the mind. There must be a secret agreement somewhere.

Your mental attitude will determine whether you are in harmony with your clothes or if you are striking discords.

Clothes for this winter are rich, elegant and regal. To wear them properly you must look as if you felt that way, no matter what sylvan-like proportions the family wallet may have attained.

The best anti-flapper propaganda I know of is being sent over now from Paris in the form of exquisitely feminine gowns, the very latest word in beauty and luxury.

I saw some of the new Adair creations being unwrapped. Let me assure you that the talk about the long-skirt is not mere idle gossip. Afternoon and evening gowns are down very near the ankles.

The fashionable hemline, however, is broken by draperies and loose panels.

Materials are very rich. Velvet was once quite splendid enough without trimming, now it is embroidered and beaded in the most gorgeous colors.

The silhouette remains practically the same. The waistline is low. While the general straight-line policy is followed, it allows all sorts of variation.

Fronts and backs are usually plain, save for embroidery or beading, but nearly every frock has a side trimming of some sort.

The sleeveless frock is still fashionable, but is no longer in an undisputed position. There are close-fitting elbow sleeves on some frocks, and gracefully draped effects on others.

Many frocks are carried out entirely in one tone. Unrelieved red, yellow, green or blue are apt to be relieved by touches of gorgeous color.

If, by any chance, you are dieting, keep up the good work. The fewer excess pounds you have now, the less work is ahead of you.

Meatless Platter Dinner

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH. Cooking Expert for NEA Service and Columbia University.

- One peck spinach
- 12 new carrots.
- 6 hard cooked eggs.
- 2 cups white sauce.
- 1-2 cup grated cheese.

Wash and cook the spinach in just enough water to keep it from burning. Add it to one-eighth teaspoon baking soda, two teaspoons salt. Cook from 20 to 30 minutes, drain, chop, and seasons with butter, salt and pepper. Pack into a pan or bowl, and keep hot over water until ready to serve.

Scrape the carrots. Wash and cook in a very little water until tender, adding one teaspoon salt. When carrots are tender there should not be more than a tablespoon of water in the kettle. Add two teaspoons sugar, and two tablespoons butter and cook in this sirup until slightly browned.

Cook the eggs in hot water, which does not boil, 40 minutes, shell and keep hot.

Make the white sauce, using three tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and two cups milk. Cook until smooth and thick, add cheese and cook until cheese has melted.

On a large platter, in the center turn out the spinach. Pour around this sauce; at regular spaces place the eggs, and in between the egg place two carrots which have been left whole. Serve some spinach, one egg, two carrots and sauce to each person. French friend potatoes are a good accompaniment. This recipe will serve five.

SHEER SUMMER DRESSES BRING COSTUME SLIPS INTO FAVOR

The underlying principles of good dress, it may be observed this season, are very simple.

One garment that has come rapidly into favor is the costume slip. This is a single garment that combines brassiere or corset cover with petticoat—made necessary by sheer summer frocks.

The top may be either square or "V"-shaped, according to the garment it is to be worn under, and is often ally it is made into a high standing ornament resembling an aigrette. Shorter lengths are made into cockades for tricornes.

Strawberry Rice Meringue

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH. Cooking Authority for NEA Service and Columbia University.

This dessert can be made using any fruit—canned or fresh, but is particularly good with fresh strawberries, raspberries or peaches.

It being a hearty dessert the dinner preceding should be rather light.

Cook in a double boiler (or in a sauce pan set in another pan containing boiling water) one quart of milk, the grated rind of half a lemon and one cup of well washed rice. It will take from one to one and a half hours to cook the rice thoroughly.

Add one-half cup sugar, the yolk of three eggs and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Cook five minutes and turn into a border mold. In 10 minutes turn out into a dish or platter which can be placed in the oven. Have ready a box of strawberries, sweetened to taste, and a meringue made as follows:

Whites of three eggs beaten until stiff and one-half cup powdered sugar, added gradually while continuing the beating until the mixture will hold its shape. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla.

Fill the center of the rice border with the berries, completely cover rice and berries with the meringue at in a moderate oven eight minutes or until a light brown. Serve warm or cold.

Notes: If you have no border mold use any mold and surround with the fruit, covering all with the meringue. Bake.

Will Close Each Wednesday at 12 (noon) During July and August

PUBLISHES 12 TALKS FOR MOTHERS

High Death Rate Among Women During Childbirth Is Subject

New York, July 10.—The high death rate among women of the United States during childbirth and the ignorance of the proper methods of nursing and care of the mother have led the Maternity Center Association of New York to publish twelve talks for mothers stressing the vital importance of complete maternity care. More than a million of the pamphlets will be distributed nationally.

The association asserts that more women between the ages of 40 and 45 die from causes incident to maternity than from any other cause except tuberculosis. Dr. Haven Emerson, of the association's advisory board estimates that only one woman out of 17 in the United States receives the benefit of modern medical nursing science at childbirth.

NATIONAL OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Will Be Held in Chicago July 10-15 on Golf Links of Skokie Country Club

ONE OF CHICAGO'S BEST

(By the Associated Press)
Glencoe, Ill., July 10.—Playing the greatest game of golf seen on the Skokie course in many a day, Jock Hutchinson of Chicago, British open champion last year, turned in a card of 33-34-67, three strokes under par, for the first half of today's 36 hole qualifying round in the national open tournament. He missed an eighteen foot putt on the 18th for a 66.

Shooting over a course which for weeks had been hard as a rock but today held puddles of water along the fairways and greens as soft as sponges as a result of a drenching rain early this morning, more than 100 golfers started the first 36-hole qualifying rounds in the national open tournament without a single one of the stars being able to negotiate the first nine or 18 holes in a 66.

Where drives had been rolling 300 to 375 yards in the practice rounds because of the concrete condition of the fairways, even such long hitters as Abe Mitchell, the British star, today could get no better than 250. The greens were so soft that a high ball would lodge in the ground.

Indications were, however, that by tomorrow the course would be in perfect condition barring further moisture.

Chicago, July 10.—The golf links of the Skokie Country Club over which the National Open Golf championship will be held July 10-15 is one of the best in the Chicago held with a difficult par of 34-36-70 that has never been broken in competition from the back tees.

The length of the course is 6,548 yards, 3,233 out and 3,315 in. A description of the holes follows:

Hole No. 1—430 yards. Par 4. The drive should be rather to the left to open up the hole for the next shot and avoid a sand trap on the right beyond the cross bunker. Plenty of landing space between the cross bunker and the green. A deep sand pit along the right of the green, a grass hollow along the left, but only rough beyond.

Hole No. 2—198 yards. Par 3. Carry 170 yards. The tee shot is a stiff midion which must not run, or against the prevailing wind, may be a spoon. The green is surrounded with sand traps.

Hole No. 3—440 yards. Par 4. Played with the prevailing wind. The tee shot can be played straight for the pin, but must carry 210 yards to avoid the end of a long, diagonal pit and bunker. A shot to the right of center will have to negotiate a pit that runs in from the right hand corner of the green. The green has a good forward slope.

Hole No. 4—350 yards. Par 4. A difficult drive and pitch. A trap and bunker come in from the right side almost to the center. Carry 223 yards. A hog back in the center of fairway about 175 yards out will accentuate a slice or a pull. The green is elevated with a decided pitch forward and guarded on three sides by grass ridges.

Hole No. 5—500 yards. Par 5. With a following wind and a dry course, the long hitters can amuse themselves trying to reach this green in two shots. The tee shot would be just inside the pit and bunker on the left. Carry 185 yards. A slice will find a trap at 220 yards. The approach is through a lane of trees with an out of bounds fence beyond. A birdie on this hole is rare; an eagle has never been shot.

Hole No. 6—330 yards. Par 4. A dog's leg to the right. Out of bounds on the right to beyond huge trap and bunker at end of the leg. This hole has two tees on opposite sides of the course. With the tee on the right, it is a great shot for the long hitter to carry over the inside end of this bunker—carry 210 yards. There is a deep pit beyond the green for too strong an approach.

Hole No. 7—215 yards. Par 3. One of the hardest pars on the course. The sportsy shot is a high spoon or fade-away iron straight at the pin, and right over the bushes in the bend of the right hand side, and the ball just beyond them—carry 195 yards. The green has a good forward slope and will hold the shot nicely. Against a strong wind this shot can be up to a full brassit. The drive otherwise is up a long bottle neck with deep traps on both sides.

Hole No. 8—435 yards. Par 4. A pond in front requires a carry of 147 yards. The drive unless long will land on a rise that will shorten it 20 yards and make the next shot a long, difficult approach, uphill on the end to the finally guarded green.

Hole No. 9—185 yards. Par 3. The green is on the face of a rise and the shot will hold fine. Deep pits on both sides of the green.

Hole No. 10—440 yards. Par 4. There is a draw to the left that will carry a short or long ball, especially if hooked to the large bunker. A large cross bunker, 370 yards from the tee, has to be carried on the second shot.

Hole No. 11—430 yards. Par 4. Trees line the fairway and a cross bunker at 100 yards calls for a good drive. The green has a good forward slope, but falls away to the right where three pits await. Out of bounds on the right.

Hole No. 12—345 yards. Par 4. An innocently looking fair, but the green is small, with narrow en-

CHICAGO HAS CLIMBED INTO THIRD PLACE

Yankees Drop Another One to Cleveland—Detroit Bested by Washington

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, July 10.—Vic Aldridge's steady twirling checked Boston and gave Chicago its eighth victory out of nine games yesterday, enabling the club to climb over Brooklyn into third place in the National League. Killifer's men are going like a house afire with their pitching staff in rare form and promise to make things interesting for the leaders.

The slugging St. Louis Cardinals handed the Brooklyn Dodgers their fourth straight setback, six to five, in a game filled with thrills. As the Giants were idle Rickey's men climbed to within three and a half games of the top.

Cleveland made it two in a row from the Yankees, tying the score in the ninth and winning in the thirteenth when Bob Shawkey, who relieved Jones, weakened.

Washington defeated Detroit 13 to 7, and Cincinnati pounded out a victory over Philadelphia, 9 to 3, in the latter stages of the game.

BE-SPECTACLED PLAYER UPSETS DOPE George and His Specs

GEORGE TOPORCER

Glasses Are No Bar to George Toporcer, Who Is Making Good with Cardinals

(By Billy Evans)
A phenomenon in George Toporcer of the St. Louis Cardinals. A baseball is nine inches in circumference. Scientists claim that to accurately follow the course of so small an object one must have perfect vision.

Not so with George Toporcer. He defies the laws of science. His vision is imperfect. When on the ball field he is forced to wear double barreled lenses in order to properly focus.

When Toporcer joined the Cardinals in the spring of 1921 he was hailed as a curiosity. No one for a minute figured it would be possible to solve big league pitching with a pair of eyes that needed heavy glasses to fight the vision.

The idea that a player could perform in the infield handicapped by bad eyes and wearing glasses was also ridiculed. True, Pitcher Meadows, who made his start with St. Louis, has been successful, but pitching was different from playing the infield.

While Toporcer will never be a Rogers Hornsby yet he has proved a most valuable player for the St. Louis club. In the spring of last year, when Milton Stock was late in reporting, Hornsby moved over to third in place of Stock, and Toporcer filled in most acceptably at second.

It would be impossible to compute what a great aid Toporcer proved to be for the Cardinals in the spring of the present campaign. Pitcher Meadows on the spring training trip out Johnny Lavan, the Cardinals' shortstop, out of the running. Rickey must have a shortstop at once. Once again the pinch role was handed to Toporcer.

How Toporcer performed while Lavan was ill is now a matter of history. His batting was the sensation of the first two months of play. In the first 36 games he hit better than .400.

On May 15 and 16 of this year he achieved the unique distinction of having rapped out two triples and two home runs in four successive trips to the plate.

That is some feat for a leather-necked veteran, to say nothing of a plunk-checked, "four-eyed" rookie. Toporcer is a left-handed hitter, and has been unusually successful against southpaw pitching.

How does Toporcer feel facing the speedy shots of the leading National League pitchers? Here is his own answer:

Fifty-Fifty
"It requires no more nerve to face big league pitching with glasses than without them. If a player wearing glasses is hit in the region of the eye he surely is in for some trouble. However, let a pitcher hit a batter without glasses in the region of the eye and you can draw your own conclusions. It's about an equal chance either way."

Toporcer has worn glasses since he was 11 years old. He is now 32. The spectacles are for near-sightedness.

BIG TOURNNEY DRAWS STARS

World's Greatest Golfers, All Champions and Ex-Champs, to Compete for Open Title

(By Bob Dorman)
July 11 will see the opening of the battle for the American open golf title over the links of the Skokie course in Chicago.

Judging by the recent performances of both professionals and amateurs it should be a great match. Added interest is given to the match by the presence of several British stars, over here to avenge Walter Hagen's recent win in the British open.

Hagen naturally will be the big attraction of the event. Winner of this year's British open, he has also won the American open title on two occasions, besides being the victor in a dozen other American events.

SOUTH DAKOTA TOWN WRECKED BY STORM

One Is Killed, Many Are Injured and $800,000 Damage Is Done

HITS SUMMER RESORT

(By the Associated Press)
Sioux City, Iowa, July 10.—Men were busy today clearing wreckage to which the town of St. Charles, South Dakota, was reduced by a tornado which caused property damage estimated at approximately $800,000 and resulted in the death of one man and the injury of many others, according to a special dispatch received by the Sioux City Journal from Bonsteel, South Dakota, ten miles from the storm's path.

Practically every building in St. Charles, a town of about 200 people was damaged by the twister which laid waste in both business and residential sections, says the dispatch. Howard Hughes, the dead man was killed when he was caught beneath falling walls. A score of others received cuts and bruises, says the dispatch, which adds:

"The tornado plowed its way through the town from southwest to northeast. Several sets of farm buildings lying in its path were demolished. Farm animals and machinery were among the casualties of the disaster.

"The damage to the town of St. Charles is estimated at $75,000. Farm property destroyed and summer cottages and resorts around the shores of Lake Andes fell before the wind bringing the toll to near the $800,000 mark."

JOSEPH A PIKER? WE SHALL SEE

Solar Observations Conducted by Smithsonian Institution May Prove So

Washington, July 10.—Joseph, the long-faced weather prophet of the Bible, who foretold the seven lean years and the following seven years of plenty, may one day be shown up as a piker by modern weather forecasters, when solar observations being conducted by the Smithsonian Institution are completed, it is indicated.

Dr. C. G. Abbot, assistant secretary of the institution, describing the Institution's world-wide studies of the variation of the heat of the sun, in the annual report lately made public, declares that such compilations are already being used by two South American countries as an aid to weather forecasting. "The Institution's researches, which are considered of great scientific importance are being closely followed by scientists all over the world, and may make long time prognostications as usual and simple part of weather mapping.

After many years close observation and measurement of the heat radiation from the sun, scientists believe they are now near the goal. It has been finally determined that the sun does not throw off a continuous amount of heat, from year to year, from month to month and even from day to day; that neither does the earth receive a constant amount of solar heat; that these variations are periodic and regular according to several factors, primarily the sun's rotation; and that there is a direct connection with the solar variation and the earth's climate.

REFORM MARRIAGE? YES, AND SHE TELLS HOW

MRS. MARTHA MCCOLLUM

MARIAN HALE.
"When you can't start a discussion any other way, just introduce the subject of marriage."

If there are two people in the world who hold the same opinions on how this institution should be improved done away with, made easier or harder, they probably will never occur in the same company and there will be conversational opportunities for all. You may not agree with Mrs. Martha McCollum, the traveling psychologist, who is attracting attention throughout the country for some revolutionary ideas on marriage, but from this point, she has the floor.

Says she: "I see no reason why a woman should lose her identity when she marries. I believe she should keep her own name and go on with her career."

"The children should be allowed to choose whether they will be called for the father or the mother—they should take the name of the one they care most for."

"My own daughter married six weeks ago. She retained her own name, using only the 'Mrs.' before it instead of 'Miss.' Next year she plans to go to Paris for a year to study and leaving her husband in this country. Here is an ideal marriage, as far as her as to her husband."

"A woman's home is no longer in which the youngsters of Cass county will participate.

FROST CAUSED BY 'COINCIDENCE'

Fargo, N. D., July 10.—What caused the cold spell which last week brought touches of frost to parts of North Dakota?

Simply a series of coincidences, say U. S. Weather Bureau authorities. The first of these was a northerly wind which brought down its quota of cold from Canada. Added to this was a storm which brought down a part of the upper regions of the air in the form of hail and cold rain.

This was followed by a high pressure area over the state. The latter was accompanied by cool weather as high pressure areas usually are but unlike most, it also was accompanied by clouds that blanketed the earth and didn't let the sun in. The combination caused the cold weather.

RULE ON SCHOOL

An incorporated city is a school district in itself, the supreme court of North Dakota holds, and when it legally extends its line the added property becomes a part of the school district.

The decision is handed down in a case brought by the Harrison School within four walls. It is the whole country. She should be just as ashamed of a dirty spot in her city as she would be in her own home.

"It is just as much her duty to do civic housecleaning as home cleaning. That is what woman will do when they realize to the fullest extent their political rights, when they are in the legislatures where they are needed."

"All women should be looked upon as saviors and not as dependents upon their husbands."

"An expectant mother should be regarded as a soldier in the service of her country and should be pensioned during the period when she is incapacitated for other service, just as a soldier is paid while on duty."

"Trial marriages would be a national calamity. One man for one woman in a home where there are equal rights for both is my ideal."

"The double standard of morals that brought about untold suffering to the innocent victims, the mothers and children."

"Independence of the right sort will not make women less attractive and womanly, but will increase their charm. Intelligence is a greater benefactor than any beauty treatment ever invented."

Mrs. McCollum is from Kansas but she lectures in all parts of the country.

District No. 2 against the City of Minot. The case grew out of the absorption by the city of Minot of what had been known as North Minot, most of this territory being within the territory of the complaining school district.

NEWS COMPANY MANAGER DIES

Duluth, Minn., July 10.—James E. Brown of St. Paul, manager of the Minnesota News Company, died suddenly at a local hospital today following an attack an hour earlier at a local hotel. The exact cause of his death has not been determined, according to physicians, who plan to conduct an autopsy. GUERNSEY BREEDERS IN PILGRIMAGE

Will Make Their First Visit to Guernsey Farms in Ward County

Minot, N. D., July 10.—Guernsey breeders of North Dakota will gather here next Thursday, July 13, for the first tour of the Guernsey farms of Ward county. The pilgrimage, which will visit a number of farms to the east of Minot in the morning will return to the Col. Persons farm for lunch and then will visit some of the larger farms to the west of the city.

Ward county intends to become the center of Guernsey breeding in the northwest. Two herds of pureblood with more than sixty head in each herd and a number of smaller herds, as well as a number of organizations owning cattle in common has given the county a good start. There are also a number of grade herds in the county, one of these being considered by Assistant State Dairy Commissioner Franklin Page as an exceptional grade herd.

One of the objects of the present pilgrimage is to show the farmers the Guernseys of the county in its native farm home. In October, herds from this county will be shown at the National Dairy Congress at St. Paul, and the men making the trip now will be able to compare the cattle at home with the cattle as they appear on display, and in comparison with the best cattle of the famous dairy districts of Wisconsin and Michigan.

LABOR RUSH BEGINS SOON

U. S. Representative to be Sent Into State

Fargo, N. D., July 10.—George Tucker, Kansas City, field representative of the United States labor bureau in charge of directing the flow of harvest labor from Texas to Canada, will come to Fargo next week to supervise opening of branch labor offices in Grand Forks, Oakes and Devils Lake, July 15. The Minot office is already open.

Cool weather has somewhat delayed rye harvesting and the United States employment office has been able to meet most of the demands for help but the big rush is expected to begin next week, according to Mrs. M. B. Howe, in charge.

Ed Stock will have charge of the Oakes office where thousands of laborers pour into the state from the south.

There are additional offices at Jamestown and Leeds, operated by the county agent's office and the commercial club, respectively of the towns.

NO QUORUM TO ACT ON "LETTER RESIGNATIONS"

Hankinson, N. D.—Mayor M. A. Wiperman of Hankinson and three councilmen, assembling at the regular time and place for a council meeting, were confronted by three tenders of resignation in the form of letters from the remaining three council members, and the fact that no quorum was present to transact business. The members offering their resignations are: L. E. Burfening, George W. Schmitt and Matt Schram.

Mayor Wiperman, replying to each of the councilmen tendering resignations, in a letter which he has made public, says that if the three will come into the city council while it is in session and declare their intention to resign, their tenders of resignation will be given consideration. He asserts that the law prescribes this method of resignation.

14 APPLICATIONS FOR PARDON ARE BEING HEARD

St. Paul, Minn., July 10.—Fourteen applications for pardon were heard by the state pardon board in the opening session of the present calendar today. There are 109 cases before the board.

Kasper Sokolinski, Duluth priest, who was convicted March 6th, 1922, of grand larceny in the second degree, was among those who today petitioned for pardon. The Duluth priest still declared his innocence, denying that he embezzled any funds from his parishioners.

Sokolinski was accused by his parishioners of embezzling in the neighborhood of $20,000. He was sentenced to five years.

Application for a pardon was also made by Frank Sadler, who is serving a life sentence at Stillwater, for the murder of Ray Roper of Virginia, Minn., on January 17, 1910. Sadler is an Austrian alien and it is possible in this case that deportation may be recommended.

Gold! Gold!

BACK in the '40's it took months for the thrilling news of California's gold strike to cross the continent. Today, a few hours after so important a discovery, the entire story would be known to newspaper readers throughout the country.

In the early days, news spread by word of mouth. Today, the telegraph and telephone speed the message into the newspaper office, it is rushed into type, the paper is printed and shortly the news becomes public property.

There are two kinds of news in the paper. One consists of the affairs of other people; their sayings, doings and what they're going to do; things that have happened, may happen and didn't happen. The other kind of news is about your affairs. That's the part you'll find in the advertisements. There's a lot of valuable news there about things you want or will want; things that have to do with your own personal comfort, convenience and every-day efficiency.

Every advertisement carries a personal message to some one. Many advertisements carry messages of vital interest or value to you.

That's why you can't afford to miss the advertisements.

Read them. The advertisements are decidedly valuable to you.

"Wounded in Action" Means Something to Them

The recent convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at San Francisco was really a "living casualty list." These fellows are reading over a collection of government casualty lists which notes in a few words the biggest moments in their respective lives. Left to right, Leonard Jay, W. H. Roethlis, Leon Bell, Carl E. Reynolds and Byron Genger.
